AHAs COMPLEX: Reduces a thickening of the stratum corneum by having an impact on the bonds between the corneocytes, increases the internal thickness of the epidermis, reactivates cellular metabolism, contributes to the renewal and restructuring of the dermis, facilitates the penetration of other active substances, has a direct and indirect positive effect on many biochemical processes of the skin, helps to maintain a more uniform skin color.

SALICYLIC ACID: Salicylic acid is used for its keratolytic effect. It breaks keratin protein chains which are found in corneocytes.
